

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1800 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphia. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

SEQUACHEE YOUTHS

Can Read This and Take Renewed Courage.

The Maryville, Mo., Review contains the following somewhat personal editorial: "The Review does not hesitate to say that we have three marriageable daughters who are fully able to take care of themselves and who would take pleasure in taking care of a home with some sober, honest, industrious young man who is ready and willing to commence at the bottom round of the ladder and work unceasingly to the end of a happy and useful life parting the thorns and plucking the boquets on the way." We reproduce this for the benefit of the many excellent young men who are readers of the News. It appears to be an excellent opportunity for some "sober, honest, industrious young man" to become the husband of three girls. It is an offer of the job lot at a bargain.

Printed with apologies to the Cleveland (Tenn.) Journal.

Too Good for This Earth.

R. J. Cate is certainly one of the cleverest men in the world. He called at the Journal office Monday and paid for three yearly subscriptions in advance.—Cleveland Journal.

During the past week many blackberries of the low-running kind have been gathered and found a ready sale at 20 cts. a gallon. Our young housekeeper, with prudent forethought for next winter has wisely put some up for use in winter ahead of the usual canning season and we have had some blackberry pie which is not to be sneezed at.

Visiting Whitwell Monday we appreciated the cordial greetings from our friends and we felt glad to be remembered by orders for work and good wishes for the paper.

The base ball players of Whitwell are in favor of reorganizing their club. The crushing defeat or whitewash at South Pittsburg was discouraging to some and by reorganization they hope to get a stronger team.

There are a great many kinds of goods that are not usually kept in a country store. J. E. Dyer, Whitwell, will furnish any kind of goods that you may want at a low price at any time. It will pay you to always get prices from him.

Hereafter some one representing the News will visit Whitwell at least once a week and as all our readers are our personal friends, if they have anything for us either in news or work if word is left with the depot-master, Mr. O. W. Chastain it will promptly reach us.

A. J. Dykes & Son suffered the loss of a very valuable horse one day last week at Walen's Ridge, a particular favorite of its owners for its locality and good qualities. The circumstances of its death was peculiar. The horse it was working with hauling a bark became frightened and ran away. Turning a corner abruptly the big sorrel was thrown against a dead chestnut tree and a sharp branch entered its body inflicting such injury as to cause it to bleed to death in half an hour. It was a fine animal.

The Columbian Cyclopaedia.

35 Volumes. 7,500 Illustrations. 28,600 Pages.
The largest American Cyclopaedia. Includes an Unabridged Dictionary Pronounces all Titles. Information right down to date. Volumes of handy size. You can keep up to the times by adding an Annual each year. The largest and latest Maps. No other Cyclopaedia even pretends to claim these features but don't on think they are pretty important? It is the only cyclopaedia that is fit to be put in a public school, because of its simplicity and clearness of style, combination of dictionary with cyclopaedia and because it gives the pronunciation of every word; the latter feature alone is enough to decide in favor of the COLUMBIAN. It is giving more space to the treatment of all American interests than any other cyclopaedia published and devotes more space to United States affairs than ALL THE OTHER CYCLOPEDIAS COMBINED. We do not depend on a few patched pages to justify our claim that The Columbian furnishes

THOROUGHLY AMERICAN
